Kevin Kilsby Designer Ceramics

THE ARTIST...

I began making pottery in 1988. My handbuilt work and sculptural pieces were exhibited in numerous local and national exhibitions. My early work is represented in public and private collections.

Pottery gradually became my full time occupation and my talented team and I now produce a range of slipcast ware which is sold all around New Zealand.

ABOUT THE ART...

Created from my original designs, made from very strong white clay, which is slipcast and highly fired and will last a lifetime indoors or outdoors. The raw clay is hand painted with underglaze stains, bisque fired, clear glazed and given a final firing to achieve high gloss.

The tubular legs on the birds are easily removable and are made from powder-coated aluminium so they will never rust or fade. The springilegs are also easily removable, made from powder-coated steel and are intended for indoor use.
